Integrity of Scholarship Agreement TEMPLATE
(for an electronic copy, please email aic@ucsd.edu)

The Center for Academic Integrity defines Academic Integrity as a commitment to five fundamental values: honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility. As a student of UCSD, you are expected to complete every academic assignment, and take every exam with these values in mind. Furthermore, you must also adhere to the Policy of Integrity of Scholarship as well as standards outlined and noted by your instructor below:

Instructors please list what the students may use during exams and what is expected of them in assignments.
- What devices or materials will the students in your class be able to utilize during exams/assignments?
- Will students be allowed to utilize old exams or assignments as study material not issued by the professor?
- Will students be able to collaborate on out of class on assignments.
- Make clear to students that plagiarism is not tolerated and that they must cite their sources.

If you need help throughout the course, there are a variety of resources that you could utilize. Visiting your Instructor or TA during office hours are honest ways to obtain assistance when struggling in your classes. Please also check with the class department to see if there are any other forms of assistance available.

If you violate Academic Integrity Standards, you may be subjected to a failing grade in the course. You will also be reported to the Academic Integrity Office and subject to disciplinary sanctions such as suspension or dismissal from the University.

UC San Diego's academic community constructs new knowledge and invents solutions to perennial world problems, and society trusts that we do this in ethically responsible ways with the utmost transparency, fairness, and responsibility.

Without integrity, we fail to meet those expectations, the reputation and survival of UCSD is threatened, and the value of your degree is diminished.
