

To Whom It May Concern:

The degree clearance process at the University of California, San Diego may take up to 90 days after the end of the quarter of graduation. Awarded degrees will not be posted on official transcripts and verifications until after the degree clearance process is complete for that student.

Our alumni should not be considered at fault for any delay in submitting degree conferral documentation during this period. We ask that UC San Diego alumni not be penalized if a deadline date is not met due to our administrative schedule.

Thank you for your consideration. If you have any questions, please contact us at (858) 534-3150 or registrar@ucsd.edu.

Sincerely,

Office of the Registrar
UC San Diego
