

Transfer Applicants Not Offered Admission

---

- Why wasn't I admitted? I met the requirements.
- How many transfer students applied?
- Can I appeal the decision?
- Does UC San Diego have a waiting list for transfer applicants?
- Can I apply for another quarter?

Q: Why wasn't I admitted? I met the requirements.

A: Admission is competitive.

Q: How many transfer students applied?

A: We received nearly 17,700 transfer applications for Fall 2017 for a limited number of spaces. The enrollment goals are established annually.

Q: Can I appeal the decision?

A: Note: Successful appeals are very rare. Your application has already been reviewed thoroughly by at least two readers.

To provide new and compelling academic information that was not in your original application, follow the link to submit your appeal online.

Q: Does UC San Diego have a waiting list for transfer applicants?

A: Yes. A limited number of applicants who came closest to admission are given the option of joining the waitlist. Participation is by invitation only. There is no appeal process to get on the waitlist.

Q: Can I apply for another quarter?

A: No. We only consider applications from prospective transfer students for the Fall quarter each year.